Jeju Taekwon Martial Art Hon

This performance is for those who want to experience the beauty of Korean martial arts and dance. They were officially invited to 105 cities in 15 countries around the world, including the 2018 PyeongChang Winter Olympics.

It tells the story of Taegeuk, a warrior who founded the martial arts group Taegeukwon to protect the millennium kingdom of Tamna, and his fellow warriors as they fight against the forces of evil. It naturally combines Jeju's legends with comical and romantic sensibilities. Themes of inner peace and free will are revealed through the conflict between good and evil. In addition, the use of 'Arirang', a song representing Korea, added a deeper resonance to the message.

It is a performance combining Taekwondo movements and acrobatic flair that will amaze everyone, from new martial artists learning Taekwondo to overseas visitors unfamiliar with martial arts. The highlight of the Taekwondo demonstration is the plank breaking event, in which practitioners jump to a height greater than that of an average adult and break the target with kicks.

Aqua Planet

Aqua Planet Jeju boasts the largest aquarium facility in East Asia. Aqua Planet Jeju, home to over 45,000 domestic and overseas marine creatures, is highly recommended as a family-friendly attraction. The highlight of Aqua Planet Jeju is the main tank, which contains 6,000 tons of water and 27,000 fish, and is a place where you can see marine life up close. This water tank facility is twice as large as Aqua Planet Yeosu and more than three times larger than Samsung COEX Aquarium and Busan Sea Life. What makes this aquarium event even more special is the Jeju diver diving performance that can only be seen at Aqua Planet Jeju.

Seopjikoji

Seopjikoji is so named because the island has a shape that protrudes into the sea. 'Koji' is the Jeju Island dialect meaning cape. Located just south of Seongsan Ilchulbong, this cape is a popular tourist attraction. From the top of Seopjikoji, you can easily see the beautiful scenery of tuff rocks, the sea, and rape flower fields. At the top of the hill, a 4m high and 9m diameter beacon tower is built using volcanic rock. Behind the beacon tower is Bulgeum Oreum, stained with red earth. The contrasting white lighthouse stands out at the top of the cone. Seopjikoji has been used as a filming location for many Korean movies and dramas.

YakCheonSa - Largest Temple in East Asia

Jeju Yakcheonsa Temple is the largest temple in Asia. It was originally a small hermitage called Yaksum, but it was given the name Yakcheonsa because there was a famous mineral spring nearby. Mt.Sanbang & Yongmeori Beach Sanbongsan Mountain, meaning 'mountain with caves,' is a mountain where Sanbongguls Temple, a temple with a small Buddha statue, is located at the foot of the mountain. According to Jeju mythology, her grandmother, Seolmundae Halmang, created this mountain by throwing a stone from the summit of Hallasan Mountain. Sanbongsan Mountain, which stands tall at 395 meters above sea level on the southwestern coast of Jeju Island, is full of rapeseed flowers in spring, creating a picturesque landscape with Sanbongsan Mountain in the background.

Yongmeori Beach is a water-volcanic rocky coast formed by the accumulation of volcanic debris erupted from three craters under the sea. The coastal cliffs look like Yongmeori ('Yongmeori') due to long-term sedimentation and erosion. The strange cliffs created by the waves are spectacular. The coastal platform next to the sea serves as a promenade. On the way down to the beach, the Hamel Monument is erected to commemorate Hamel, who drifted here.

ⓘ If we are not allowed at Yongmeori beach due to weather or local situation, We will stop by another beach.

Cafe street with Handam Beach

Aewol-eup, located next to the beautiful sea of Jeju, is believed to have been named 'Gaddal' in the past. Goddal is a name that combines the Jeju word 'gat', meaning coast, and 'dal', meaning moon. It is said that Aewol Port originated because it resembles a crescent moon. Follow the winding curves of the Handam Coastal Trail that connects Aewol and Gwakji. In 2009, Jeju City designated the Handam Coastal Trail as one of Jeju's 31 Hidden Scenic Areas, and many cafes and restaurants opened along the trail. Today, this route is so popular that it can hardly be called a 'hidden sight' in good faith, but it only means that more people are discovering the charms of this beautiful route.

Yongdoo Rock, Yongyeon Bridge

Yongduam Rock, located on the northern coast of downtown Jeju, is a rock estimated to be 10 meters high. It has been carved by strong winds and waves over a long period of time and resembles the shape of a dragon's head. There are many legends surrounding the rock. There is a legend that a dragon who stole precious jade from Hallasan Mountain was struck down by the mountain god's arrow. As soon as he fell, his body sank into the sea, and his head rapidly froze as he looked up at the sky. According to another legend, a white horse that dreamed of becoming a dragon and ascending to heaven was captured by a soldier and frozen on a rock. Yongyeon is a place where sea water and fresh water meet. There is a legend that the Dragon King often sent envoys to the pond. There are eight rock walls that look like folding screens on both sides of the pond. This pond, also called Yongyeon Yabeom, is one of the 12 scenic spots of Jeongju. Yongyeon Beom refers to the beautiful sight created by the reflection of the full moon in the clear sea water of the rocky cliffs. So, many people come to the pond at night to see the beautiful night scenery.
